

The Grand Award for Gender Equality went to Alliance Group

On Friday, March 7th United Nations Development Programme (UNDP) in Georgia organized Gender Equality Awards where local and foreign companies operating in Georgia were invited to participate. The independent judging panel awarded Alliance Group with the Grand Award for Gender Equality due to its best gender sensitive policies, actively promoting women on decision-making positions and having a gender balance at all levels, empowering women for career progression and promoting work-life balance.

Since the day of its establishment, Alliance Group Holding has been following the modern standards of management. Around 55% of the staff members and 40% of its supervisory board are comprised of women. The number of female customers is also increasing every year and as of today, women represent 40% of the company's clients.

“The corporate policies of Alliance Group is based on respect for human rights, gender equality, transparency and accountability, since we firmly believe that ensuring gender equality and following ethical business principles is key for achieving successful business results”- declared Aieti Kukava, CEO of Alliance Group.
